

Stirling Solutions Suite of Modular Software

Stirling Solutions have become a leading supplier specialising in software solutions for the road haulage industry with an enviable reputation for providing after sales support to its client base of over seven hundred customers. Maintenance and support on all hardware and software supplied has always been considered as the integral aspect of our business process. Stirling Solutions software is fully Windows based, networkable and constantly progressing to meet all our customers' requirements. We have developed a full suite of software solutions that are specifically constructed to cover both automated and manual transport hauliers. Our software is modular, flexible and can be implemented rapidly. We offer a variety of standalone modules which when integrated, form the basis of our comprehensive integrated transport solution, which can be installed in either single user, multi-user or networked formats with the facility to link remote sites.